WEBB BROS.

CITY EMPLOYE INJURED.

E. Canfro, a Mexican who is employed by the city water department relaying the water mains on 24th street, happened to quite a painful accident this morning while at work. He, with several members of the crew, was transferring a water main from the center of the street to a line behind the curb and his hand was caught between the heavy pipe and a block of cement and severely mashed. The foreman of the crew immediately brought him to the city and he was given medical attention.

TEMPERATURE WAS 49.

The cool norther which made its appearance in this city yesterday caused a considerable fall in the temperature. The thermometer kept by Mr. John Daly, Jr., for the government in this city, registered 49 this morning at 6 o'clock. Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the registration was 91, which is a fall of 42 degrees. Vests and coats for men and light wraps for the ladies were very much in evidence this morning.

BORDER SOLDIERS PUBLISH PAPER

Latest Efforts of Soldiers on Border to Employ Surplus Energy in Printing a Newspaper.

(By Associated Press.) Laredo, Texas, Sept. 29.—Despite the arduous duties of camp life with numerous drills, hikes, studies and lectures, National guardsmen along the Mexican border frequently seek an outlet for their plethora of energy. The latest effort in this direction, with the object of entertaining comrades in arms, crystallized in the publication of a newspaper bearing the title, The Border War Cry.

This publication, edited by men who at home occupy responsible editorial positions on various newspapers, contains numerous articles "guaranteed not to be the truth," in other words, "all the news unfit to print."

As an indication of the flippant character of the news gathered through the "latrine" and "picket line press" service, the following summaries will suffice:

"News is that troops will soon leave for home stations to be mustered out of service and given six months extra pay; be permitted to keep all their equipment, including rifles, and carry firearms at all times thereafter in civil life.

"Travel homeward to be in department cars de luxe, with diners amply provided with delicacies of the season at government expense.

"No objection to soldiers taking girl friends north on troop trains, it being stipulated, however, that no man below the rank of sergeant can take more than two friends."

As an offset to the news of the regiment's recall, an article follows stating that orders have been placed for the purchase of 600,000,000 cubic yards of bricks for building barracks, indicating an indefinite border service, and that applicants for discharge will be court-martialed and given from five to twenty years penal servitude at Leavenworth. Even the chaplain does not escape the sharp barb of the iconoclastic writer. The publication of the soldiers is immensely enjoyed by civilians as well as the soldiery and well serves its purpose: providing amusement for an idle hour.

An Unfortunate Moment.

Dobbins is too fastidious for any reasonable use. I heard he was to be married.

"He was. But it's all off. Lovely girl, too. Dobbins would certainly have married her if he hadn't seen her when she looked her very worst."

"What was she doing?"

"Eating corn off the cob."
